The Titles of Poche.

A book title, like a woman's face, ought to be pretty. And if a bewitching, diaphanous veil, in the shape of a slight curiosity rousing cloudiness of meaning can be thrown over it, so much the better. Readers delight to be half taken in by books, just as men do by women, so long—and this is a most important proviso—so long as their vanity is not piqued. The object of a title should be to seem simple, artless, naive and quite naturally charming, but this—as in the case of so many of its feminine analogues—is often to be attained only by the most consummate art.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Reason to Be Proud.

Fond Mother—My child, you will always have something to be proud of. You were born on the queen's birthday. Sweet Child—Dear me, mamma, were we twins?—Exchange.

The Washington Memorial Association.

An association has been formed in Washington for the purpose of preserving the most noteworthy houses at the residence of the nation's greatest men, and also to suitably mark by tablet or otherwise the houses and places that are of chief interest to residents and strangers. It is called the Memorial Association and was incorporated last year. Chief Justice Fuller is president. —Washington Letter.

The Cataleptic Trance.

It cannot be doubted that in numerous cases of cataleptic trance the apparently lifeless patient has been acquainted with all the arrangements being made for his interment. Several instances are recorded in which, although the body presented every appearance of death, the patient was conscious of everything going on around him, but absolutely unable to raise a limb or in any way communicate with those near his bed.

A Mad Cat.

Little Dot—Oh, mamma, I'm afraid the cat's got hydrophobia. Mamma—Mercy me! Why? Little Dot—I threw some water on her, and she gave a awful yowl.—Exchange.

Five hundred and forty-two thousand four hundred and twenty-five books have been borrowed during the year at the four libraries in Camberwell. This is the highest London record.
